

What does she want after

Women of today are made of strong stuff but when it comes to sex, they are still usually more sensitive than their male counterparts. Like they say, while a guy might be making out, a woman is usually making love. She looks forward to a fulfilling experience in bed- one that testifies her emotions. And post sex too, she desires to feel loved. Have you ever thought what YOUR woman might want post sex?

Cuddle me baby one more time!

Almost every woman likes to be hugged after an orgasm. Though you may not be a fan of the 'cuddle' syndrome, you must understand the power of 'touch' after sex. Just a simple affectionate caress of yours can make your woman feel truly loved. So even if you are in a mood to just catch a nap, do so with an arm around her. This will leave her craving more for you.

Let's talk

Some women tend to get highly emotional post the act and love to talk about how they feel about you, how you terribly turn her on etc. The least you can do is fight sleep, patiently listen up and let your ego get beautifully stroked.

Let's shower together

A refreshing shower tops the list of many. If their guy joins them, it makes them feel even better. So if that's what she wants next time, don't cite laziness as an excuse but take the invitation and join her for a lingering shower. Let her feel your affectionate touch again. You will be surprised at how refreshing and of course sensual an experience this will turn out to be.

Lemme light up!

Some women do not fall under the 'cuddle' or 'let's talk' category but would rather smoke. No, this does not mean she didn't enjoy it but it's more to do with habit and what she enjoys doing. And if you smoke, you probably want a smoke as badly. In that case, we would like to remind the two of you about the harms of smoking. Give up now to have more years to live and love!

Just be with me

For many 'what' does not matter as long as it's 'with' you. All they want is their guy to hang around. So next time you think of rushing out soon after making love, think again. Remember that the underlying thought in whatever you do post sex should be to make her feel loved. So go ahead dude – she needs you too!
